

DOWNES ASSOCIATES INC
Engineering & Management Consultants

Technical Services

DAI has been providing technical services to electric utilities for more than forty years. DAI's professional staff is experienced in the troubleshooting, diagnostics testing and preventive maintenance of generation, substation, transmission and distribution equipment and protective relays and controls. Load profile metering, data acquisition, energy management, and telemetry applications are just a few of the technical services DAI, Inc. provides. Our field services group also provides startup and commissioning services that are vital to the successful completion of any substation or power plant project.

Additional Questions?

We are here through every step of the process, including the information gathering stage. In fact, we understand this to be one of the most important aspects of locating a consultant capable of handling your project.

Call Today! (410) 546-4422